on the individual

corric 1968

LOVE, UNDERSTANDING, HONESTY, AMBITION, DESIRE, PREJUDICE, ACCEPTANCE, GOD—CHAOS — “What is the reality of myself?” A question which is a search for truth in everything, a learning experience. It is a beginning which never ends. Our years here enable us to ask it without emptiness or fear, for “I” am the universal person and the core of existence. Is education a search for “self”? Perhaps —.

in order to find myself

I must go out of myself...

and going there I will find myself

I will become undisguised *and celebrate the joy of myself and the uniqueness

of each person I meet*

I'm desperate to come into contact with every facet of my existence and to reach out and find its meaning *bewilderment, and questions unanswered... are forgotten

in the beauty and peace of a friend.*

Through books, friends, work and athletics

I come to grips with...

indifferent forces which make me a slave to myself as well as others

as a member of a unit

I am yet a separate force

DEDICATION

We have known her as a class. And we have known her as individuals. In each encounter we found wisdom, which always governed action; interest which encouraged us to seek the truth; firmness on which we could always depend; and most of all concern which bespoke her belief in us as people.

To many of us, she personifies our school. Yet we feel that we have found a truly separate person. And for this reason, and many others we dedicate this book, in all simplicity, to Sister Paul Marie.

Sister Paul Marie, S.D.P.
